FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What is a remote online notary?

How can I become a remote online notary?

- Review statutes and rules related to notaries public and remote online notaries public.
- Complete a remote online notary education course covering the duties, obligations and technology requirements for serving as a remote online notary.
- Obtain a $25,000 notary bond.

Is remote notarization the same as electronic notarization?

Many believe they are the same, but they are not. While electronic notarizations involve documents signed and notarized in an electronic format, all other elements of a traditional notarization apply, including the signer physically appearing before the notary. With remote notarizations, the transaction is performed online through means of audio-video technology rather than in person.

What kind of technology will I need to perform remote notarizations?

You will need to partner with a remote online notarization service provider whose technology complies with standards and requirements pursuant to Chapter 117, Florida Statutes, and Chapter 1N-7.001, Florida Administrative Code.

Can I use Skype or FaceTime to perform notarizations?

No. Apps such as FaceTime, Skype and Google Duo do not meet the requirements for a RON service provider set by Florida Statutes.

May I use my current Errors & Omissions Insurance Policy as a remote notary?

No. You will need to purchase a new E&O in the minimum amount of $25,000; this is a separate RON policy.

May I use my current bond to become a remote online notary?

No. Your current notary bond is in the amount of $7,500. You will need to purchase a new bond in the amount of $25,000.

How long is the remote online notary registration valid?

The registration will run concurrently with your existing notary public commission and will expire on the same day, regardless of when the online notary registration was filed.

How long is the $25,000 notary bond in effect?

The notary bond will run concurrently with your existing notary public commission and will expire on the same day, regardless of when the online notary registration was filed.
